In an amazing feat of divine protection and luck, our beloved Head Cheese Dennis Hope, has survived a plane crash with his single engined private airplane this Friday the 19th of May in Nevada.

Piloting the aircraft himself, the Head Cheese was forced to crashland in a Washoe Valley field after the fuel pump onboard the aircraft had failed (which of course is usually pretty bad news).

Thanks to his very good piloting skills, a lot of luck and evidently a very watchful divine eye, Dennis escaped the wreck, much to the great delight of over 2 milion lunar property owners family and friends, without any harm at all.

Dennis was only heard to explain: "I had a small problem.... I am perfectly OK."

This message is to say thank you for the divine intervention saving us what we feel so dearly about.

Well done and congratulations on your faboulous landing Dennis!
